

Responsibility for Damaged Property

Students shall be held responsible, consistent with appropriate legislation, for wilful damage to, destruction, or loss of SEC property or any personal property damaged of another student.

Where reasonable evidence of who caused the damage, destruction or loss has been established, the school prefers to institute a restitution program to which the student would be responsible to work off the debts associated with the damages caused while in attendance.

If the student is unwilling the school will send a bill for repairs to the individual responsible or where applicable, to the parent(s)/guardian(s) of the individual responsible.

Any debts left outstanding from a student, will have to be cleared before the student will be re-admitted for the new semester.
